Section 3: Translation

Please translate the following poem from Catullus:

ubi semel occidit haec brevissima lux, una nox perpetua nobis est dormienda.
 Da mihi basia mille, deinde centum;
 deinde mille altera, deinde secunda centum:
 deinde ubi plurima basia fecerimus, conturbemus illa, ne sciamus numerum basiorum aut ne quis malus numerum invenire possit atque invidere.

When at once this very brief light sets,

one endless night must be slept by us.

Give me a Thousand kisses, Then a hundred,

Then another Thousand, Then a second hundred

Then when we will have made many kisses, let us mix them up, so that we may not know the number of kisses, or so that anyone evil may not be able to discover and envy it.
